	6.	Three construction staffs located in Haldensleben, Colbitz and Dolle were in charge of the construction work in the Letzling Heath area, The staffs were hiring only carpenters and iron workers at the time of observation. (4)
25X1A	(1)	Comments. The camp referred to by source is subdivided into two hutments located in the woods southeast of Born and south of the line from Huetten to the
25X1A	(2)	Planken forestry office. The boundary line between the two camps is apparently hard to define because of the construction of additional wooden buildings. The vehicles observed in this area are primarily assigned to components of the 7th Gds Tank Div and the 19th Gds Kecz Div, while individual vehicles belong to the 11th Gds Mecz Div, the 9th Gds Tank Div, the 199th Light Arty Brig, the Third Shock Army and the 136th Gds Hv Tank SP Regt of the Third Shock Army. The concrete highway with bunkers is the artillery range extending between Hillersleben and Salchau. The vehicles which, according to the present report, were seen at the barracks installation and in the streets of Hillersleben, belong primarily to components of the 19th Gds Mecz Div and the 7th and 10th Gds Tank Divs, while individual vehicles belong to the 11th Gds Tank Div, the SGC and the 136th Gds Hv Tank SP Regt.

25X1A	(4)	The employment of the three construction staffs is reported for the first time. It is believed to be only one staff with several construction officers which were or are probably engaged in the construction of the Hillersleben-Salchau artillory range, the dismantling of the Gardelegen-Letzlingen railroad line and the improvement of troop camps at Letzling Heath.
